

Jack had been climbing for most of the morning. Step after slippery step, he had made his way up to the top of the beanstalk. Several times, when the wind picked up, he had feared he might lose his footing and fall to his death. On one occasion, he had dared to look down, seeing that his house was the size of an ant far, far below.

Now that he had finally reached his goal and clambered up to the land of the giants, Jack had no idea what to do next.

‘FEE, FI, FO, FUM...’ a voice as loud as a foghorn boomed out from high above him. Jack took a deep breath...
